

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Board and staff of the Toledo Fair Housing Center (TFHC) are a talented and passionate group of people who are dedicated to issues of equality, opportunity and diversity. Together, we are moving the agency along the path toward becoming a world-class human rights organization. We are creating inclusive communities of opportunity.

One way in which we are contributing to our neighborhoods is through our MLK Inclusive Communities Program. TFHC created a holistic approach to revitalization by creating the MLK Program, which consists of three components focusing on three areas of the city: Old South End, Cherry Street Legacy, and Dorr Street Corridor.

First, TFHC partnered with the Lucas County Land Bank to provide homeowners with grants for new roofs. If roofs can be saved, then usually the rest of a home can be saved. Second, TFHC partnered with the Ability Center of Greater Toledo to provide home accessibility modification grants to disabled and elderly homeowners who are in desperate need of home repairs and modifications in order to “age in place.” Third, TFHC developed its very own MLK Program with one goal in mind: Provide financial assistance and counseling programs to homeowners to stem the tide of foreclosure that is wiping out neighborhoods by turning them from homeownership-based neighborhoods to rental communities. The MLK Program has begun to not only revitalize these neighborhoods, but also to create a safe, healthy, and positive living environment by counteracting the damaging effects of foreclosures. In the first six months of the program, 15 homeowners were saved from foreclosure.

The funds to operate the MLK Program came from a complaint that was successfully resolved through a 2013 Housing and Urban Development (HUD) conciliation agreement. TFHC was one of thirteen (13) complainants that joined the National Fair Housing Alliance (NFHA) in filing an administrative HUD complaint against Wells Fargo in 2012. Wells Fargo committed $27 million to the complainants, and, of that, TFHC received $1.4 million for community relief.

The HUD complaint alleged that Wells Fargo failed to maintain and market its Real Estate Owned (REO) foreclosed homes in communities of color at the same level as in predominantly white neighborhoods. TFHC continues to be a part of the national study on REOs and has filed HUD complaints against Bank of America, Deutsche Bank, and Safeguard.

In order to create inclusive communities of opportunity, TFHC focuses on systemic investigations into discriminatory business practices. A systemic focus allows us to affect changes that have a broad, sweeping impact on protected classes under the Fair Housing Act. At the same time, it expands housing choice for significant numbers of persons.

We are grateful to our funding partners that include the City of Toledo, Wood County, the Ohio Housing Finance Agency, and the US Department of Housing and Urban Development. TFHC also recognizes the need to expand and diversify its funding base. We will be implementing a fundraising plan that will focus more on cultivating individual donors who support civil rights as well as corporate partnerships. Thank you for your support of equal housing opportunities.

VISION & MISSION STATEMENTS

Vision:

The Fair Housing Center will be a leading visible force in preventing and correcting discriminatory practices.

Mission:

The Fair Housing Center is a civil rights agency dedicated to the elimination of housing discrimination and to its effects on individuals and communities.
It is with great sadness that we announce the passing of Nellie Edwards. Nellie was part of the Toledo Fair Housing family for more than three decades as both an employee and a board member. While we mourn her passing, we also celebrate her tireless advocacy. Her dedication to fair housing serves as an example to those who follow in her footsteps.

During her 27-year tenure at TFHC, Nellie’s work as Chief Investigator changed the national fair housing landscape. Her work on the Shellhammer v. Lewallen case set national precedents. Prior to this complaint, sexual harassment was not considered a violation under the Fair Housing Act. The successful litigation of this complaint established sexual harassment as an explicit violation under the Fair Housing Act and has been used in cases around the country. Under Nellie’s leadership, TFHC pioneered the use of testing in sexual harassment complaints. To this day, Shellhammer v. Lewallen is the only litigated sexual harassment complaint in the country substantiated by testing evidence.

Our agency strives to maintain the level of excellence that was emblematic of Nellie’s work. It is, after all, groundbreaking investigations like the Shellhammer case that has made the agency what it is today.

We send our deepest sympathies to Nellie’s family. We are grateful for her lasting impact on our agency and our community.

MLK Inclusive Communities Program Helps Stabilize Communities, One Homeowner at a Time

The Toledo Fair Housing Center (TFHC) established the MLK Inclusive Communities Program to preserve and expand housing opportunities in communities of color. TFHC has partnered with other agencies to assist homeowners in a holistic manner, by providing foreclosure prevention assistance, home restoration, and accessibility modifications. TFHC has focused its efforts in predominantly minority census tracts, the areas hardest hit by predatory lending and the foreclosure crisis.

TFHC is distributing the $1.4 million in funds from its Wells Fargo settlement in a variety of ways. We established an in-house foreclosure prevention assistance program to help folks get back on track. Our program provides homeowners up to $10,000 in mortgage payment, property tax, homeowners’ insurance, and lien elimination assistance. We anticipate that we will distribute up to $200,000 in grants by the end of 2014.

While programs such as Save the Dream Ohio are going away, the need for mortgage assistance is not. “We created a grant program to help homeowners who are falling through the cracks of the state’s current foreclosure prevention programs,” stated Renea Wilson, TFHC’s Director of the MLK Inclusive Communities Program.

Cheryl Riley was the first foreclosure prevention grant recipient. Fair Housing Specialist Susan Jester negotiated a lien elimination settlement with Ms. Riley’s lender. With a grant from TFHC, Ms. Riley no longer has a mortgage.

“I am so grateful and blessed to have been chosen for this program,” said Ms. Riley. “After being rejected from other programs and not knowing what to do or where to turn, the TFHC introduced me to the . . . [MLK] program. It was their guidance and knowledge that not only allowed me to remain in my home but to also have my home paid off.”

TFHC is also partnering with other agencies to distribute the Wells Fargo settlement funds. We provided $700,000 to the Lucas County Land Bank, which provided matching funds, for roof replacements. We will provide approximately 100 homeowners with new roofs by the end of 2015.

TFHC is also providing $100,000 to the Ability Center of Greater Toledo for a home accessibility modification program. This grant program provides ramps and other disability-related modifications that will allow homeowners to age in place. The Ability Center aims to assist 40 people with these modifications.

“The banks played a role in the foreclosure epidemic. Now is the time for them to step up and play a leading role in the recovery of our neighborhoods,” said Michael Marsh, President and CEO of TFHC. And that’s why TFHC is investing the Wells Fargo settlement funds right back into these hardest hit communities. We will continue to help rebuild these neighborhoods, one homeowner at a time.
